

Peter Banthorpe FIA
Head of Actuarial Research, UK

RGA Services UK Limited

Peter Banthorpe leads the Actuarial Research department for RGA Services UK Limited, RGA's United Kingdom operations. The department's, and Peter's, main responsibility is researching, reviewing, and developing pricing bases for the UK market. The team also researches new analytical techniques and data, and monitors emerging legislative and political issues that could impact RGA UK's lines of business.

Prior to joining RGA in 2010, Peter was Head of Pricing and Reinsurance for Ageas Protect (formerly Fortis). He was one of its first employees, a member of its senior management team, and led the development of its actuarial, management information and reinsurance capabilities from initial creation until several years after its launch. Before then, Peter held various pricing and new business roles for Munich Re UK Life Branch.

Peter, a graduate of Cambridge University, qualified as an actuary in 2003. He is a member of the Institute and Faculty of Actuaries' CMI Executive Committee and Health and Care Committee.
